RESOLUTIONS OF THE PORTLAND BOARD OF TRADE.

A communication was received from the Board of Trade of the city of Portland as follows

To the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of the State of Oregon—The Board of Trade of Portland respectfully showeth

That as stated in the petition presented to your Honorable body on behalf of the Portland Dalles and Salt Lake Railroad your petitioners are in favor of any railroad that will give the desired Eastern connection to this State and hence your petitioners are desirous of recommending and encouraging all legitimate railroad enterprises calculated to advance the State's interests Therefore the Board of Trade of Portland have directed that this memorial should be presented to your Honorable body under the following resolution

PORTLAND October 13 1874

Resolved That as the Winnemucca Railroad enterprise was not known at the time the resolution of the 5th September in favor of the Portland Dalles and Salt Lake Railroad was passed and as the Winnemucca route is an advantage to the interests of this State this Board recommend to the Legislative Assembly the desirability of extending such aid as the State can grant towards the construction of the Oregon Central Pacific Railway and place each of the two roads on an equal footing, so far as privileges are concerned and that a memorial be forwarded to the Legislature to this effect signed by the President and under the seal of the Board In accordance with such instructions we respectfully submit the subject to your consideration and ask your favorable action thereon

Given under my hand and the seal of the Board of Trade of Portland, Oregon, by instructions of the Board,

H W CORBETT
President of the Board.

Attest —WILLIAM [illegible] Secretary of the Board

The communication was referred to the Joint Committee on Railroads

The PRESIDENT announced that he had signed H J R 3 and 10

The Gazette says There is complaint that the Benton county assessments are higher this year than last, which is not correct, as the following figures, furnished by the County Judge will show Assessment for 1873 as returned by W H Johnson $1 485 481 00 For 1874 $1,462 502 00 Indebtedness of county $6 000 Interest paid $600

One thousand squirrels' tails passed through Corvallis last Monday for the State Fair The nimble little pests that sported these tails were killed by Mr Samuel Craig of the Belknap settlement in this county a youth of 73 winters He accomplished this fearful work of extermination between the 1[illegible] of March and the 1st of September—besides a slaughter of skunks minks and other varmints too numerous to mention

The Salem Record of Friday says Last night about 9 30 o clock Thomas Z Smith died suddenly at the residence of his sister Mrs M A Trotter on Court street Mr Smith had been quite unwell for several days but not considered dangerous A few moments before he passed away he woke up as if from a troubled dream and in answer to the question if he had been dreaming replied No and said that he would sleep sounder in a few moments His words were prophetic for in a few moments he started up again with a spasmodic motion then sank into that sleep that knows no waking Mr Smith was 32 years of age and well known in this city where he had lived for many years Physicians who were summoned pronounced his death caused by heart disease

PERSONAL NOTES

Madame Christine Nilsson visited Norwich England recently to fulfill a promise she made six years ago to sing for the benefit of the House of Mercy established there by Jenny Lind in 1863 She gave two concerts and was publicly thanked by the Mayor and Council of the city

Larkin G Mead, the American sculptor who designed and executed the elaborate monument to Lincoln erected over his grave at Springfield Illinois has just arrived from Florence and will proceed to Springfield to attend the dedication ceremonies which will be held on Oct 15

Mr Samuel Bowles of the Springfield Republican is recommended as a candidate for Congress in the Eleventh Massachusetts District The Boston Traveler makes the suggestion The Republicans of that District have not yet been able to find a desirable man willing to accept their nomination.

OREGON STATE FAIR.

FOURTEENTH ANNUAL FAIR OF THE OREGON STATE AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY

Fifth Day.

FAIR GROUNDS, SALEM, Oct 16, 1874

The morning opened cool and refreshing The water carts were busy all night, so that the road from town to the Fair grounds was comfortable This has been the case to a great extent since the Fair commenced The arrangements of the Directors, as a whole have been very satisfactory to the public At 10 A M the sun came out bright and cheering dispelling fog and clouds and giving ample assurance that the fifth day of the Fair would be equally attractive to the vast number of visitors as any of the previous days and equally profitable and encouraging to the Directors of the Society as well as a source of joy to an immense number of young people never to be forgotten by them and a source of incalculable comfort to a host of families who are camping on the Fair grounds

The number of visitors present to day is fully equal to yesterday There are not less than 12 000 people on the grounds to-day In point of delightful atmosphere varied enjoyments and fashionable visitors, this the crowning day of the Fair It is gratifying to be able to state that the receipts of the Fair will be sufficient to pay all expenses, the balance due on last year's premiums and a considerable portion of the debt incurred on former improvements

The races are proceeding as we write attracting an immense crowd of spectators Should they not be finished in time for the train, the telegraph will let you know the results

TROTTING RACE

The expectation of the people ran up pretty well on this race but when the horses which had been entered came upon the track and it was ascertained that there were only two of them the prospect for an exciting contest was dimmed immediately The only entries were b m Lillie by C P Bacon, and b g Olympia Dick by J J Westabrook Pools sold about 4 to 1 on Dick On the first heat it was plainly seen that the horse was rather an over match for the mare, but both trotted around the track quite honestly though they made no better time than 3 03 in which Dick won the heat by a few feet

On the second heat the mare improved and though she broke up pretty badly once or twice, she managed to get in her work so well as to win the heat in 2.54 by about half a length.

The horses were started on the third heat with a good deal of difficulty but were at last got off pretty even Olympia Dick however came down to his work and gradually opened the space between himself and the mare coming down the home stretch and under the string full fifty feet ahead in 2 43 Heat and race given to Olympia Dick said the judges

THE RUNNING RACE

Of the Fair was anticipated at 4 o clock when the running for horses mares or geldings, mile heats two in three, 1st premium $100 2d premium $60, 3d premium $35 4th premium $30 5th premium $25 was announced The entries were

Osceola b[illegible] 6 years old by Chris Buckley

Minnie b f 3 years old by William Bigham

Norway br g [illegible] years old, by W H Musgrove

Rebecca Lindsey b f 3 years old entered by G J Baskett

It was hoped that Mr Bigham's splendid horse Foster would have sufficiently recovered from the lameness caused by the kick he received at the Washington County Fair, so as to go in this race in which case Osceola who came to Oregon with a fine reputation would have found a strong competitor both in the pools and on the track, for though Osceola is a fine and fast horse it is thought by many that he will find in Foster, should it come to a trial a foeman worthy of his steel As it was on this occasion, however but few pools could be sold on the race and these were at about seven on Osceola to one on the field.

When the race was called for the first heat, Norway took the inside position Minnie second Osceola third and Rebecca Lindsey entered under protest outside. In starting Basket's mare lost so much distance that she failed to make up in the heat that she was distanced The other three got off pretty evenly but from the start it was evident to all that the race was to be like the pool selling, all on one side Osceola being held back with all the strength of his rider, fell a short distance behind on the first half but on the third quarter he began gradually to close up, and on the home stretch he shot ahead and came in three or four lengths in advance of all Time, 1 50 Minnie second

The second heat was nearly a repetition of the first, Osceola being held in tightly all the way, dropping behind at first, but coming to the front apparently just as much as he liked at the outcome He won the second heat in 1,57 by about 10 feet ahead of Minnie, who was next and took second money Osceola's race

The horse Osceola has been before described in your columns He was recently purchased in California by Messrs Buckley and Failor for the sum of $500 as stated by a California paper but which is certainly a rather small price for an animal of his parts We learn that the Durbins of Salem have purchased an interest in him since he came on the Fair Ground Should his owners and Mr Bigham allow him and Foster to contest the palm of speed on the Portland track the sport would be finer than has ever been witnessed in Oregon

As the races closed a large number of persons started for the depot to take the cars to the north and our letter must go with them

AMERICAN DRAMA

It is, perhaps a little singular that while we have been waiting for the American novel an American drama has dropped in upon us almost unannounced. There has been an unreasonable expectation of the American novel Foreign critics (and, for that matter, domestic ones) have demanded that we should produce a novel that should not only have 'the flavor of the soil' on all its characters, but in its plot and movement Walt Whitman and Joaquin Miller, they say, have done something for American poetry But where is the verse-maker who is as gifted as Longfellow or Lowell without the European methods of either? Especially where is the novelist who shall do for American life and thought what Smollet and Fielding, Dickens and Thackeray have done for English life and character? It has been a bitter reproach that we have been compelled to import not only our best plays, but our best dramatic ideas Begging the pardon of the illustrious company of gentlemen who write for the American stage, the American flavor is sadly deficient in all of their works John Brougham, who is a thrifty exotic has given us some admirable things that might have been grown in the atmosphere of London as well as in the dryer air of New York The same may be said of Dion Boucicault whose latest piece with a change of names would be equally effective as an incident of the Franco-German war as it now is in the lurid light of the American Rebellion Without a thought of disparagement toward any of the playwrights of our own time it may be truly said that not one of them has hitherto produced a dramatic work that possesses a distinctively American character in addition to other positive merits Perhaps it is asking too much that a novel or poem should be national as well as artistic We have had a multitude of good American novels the American novel may never be written Perhaps it is just as well that it should not be nay, more, perhaps it is impossible Bret Harte has given us one dramatic phase of American life and manners. He promises as much for the American stage

But in the production of the play of 'The Gilded Age' Mr Samuel L Clemens, better known as 'Mark Twain' has made a long stride toward the American drama For the first time we believe, truly national characteristics have been brought out on the stage in high relief and without offensive coarseness or extravagance We do not lose sight of 'Rip Van Winkle' or 'Solon Shingle' both excellent in their way But one of these is essentially old-world and the other is merely a sketch The title of Mr Clemens play is meaningless it was well enough for the book from which the piece has sprung but it has slight significance in the drama All its characters its motive its humor its pathos and its movement are emphatically American To say this and to say that it has dramatic unity power and fullness is to say a great deal Yet all this is measurably true. The central figure is the visionary American speculator who sees millions in wild land corn hogs railway jobs steam boats, and eye water A too common social scandal, involving the shooting of a 'destroyer' by an injured woman emphasizes the local dramatic action and Congressional lobbying and appropriations for internal improvements round out the distinctively national characteristics of the piece. The dialogue though often 'talky' is smart and brisk The humor is grotesque and extravagant—as all American humor must be

Here then we recognize a truly American work It is of native authorship, color, motive flavor, and humor It is worth while that we should go out of our way, as it might appear to speak of an achievement that is so unusual and that deserves so well of an American public How much superior it is to the artificial and unnatural plays that are chiefly recommended to our people because they are Parisian we need not say It is possible that in the French nastiness so often put upon our stage some persons may perceive human motives and actual people but, for the most part the characters use language and obey impulses of which the world generally knows nothing whatever 'Camille' is as unreal as 'The Tempest,' and 'Fortune' has no more genuineness to the average American than 'Aladdin' or 'Le Diable Boiteux' With all its crudeness, 'The Gilded Age' appeals to the common sense and experience, as well as the sympathies of each spectator Every American who knows his country knows Col Mulberry Sellers The quaintly courteous hopeful, good hearted and self confident Colonel is more than an American Micawber He is Colonel Sellers He is native-born So of the jury trial the newspaper 'boys' the land speculations and the Southern chivalry They are all national. They may be foibles and weaknesses but they have the too rare merit of being honest and lifelike We do not wish to be understood as giving unqualified praise to this new work On the contrary it has much in it that might be pruned away without loss It may be smoother and more artistic. But, as we have said it is a great advance in American drama Who will give us the next?—N Y Times

SCHOOLS AND SCHOOL CHILDREN

No system of instruction is a sound one which does not consider physical health as well as the mental capacity of school children, and provide for the former by good school houses, well-ordered school rooms abundant means of exercise, plentiful ventilation and wholesome light and air and for their minds, after their bodies are cared for, the necessity is to supply a system of training (not merely a mass of facts) to develop the reasoning faculty, not merely to test the memory or to overload it There ought to be in every school district capable inspectors to supervise both the actual teaching, with its fitness for the pupils, and their physical condition so that pupils might be watched and classified and cared for from the outset and not looked on merely as ciphers or figures in the great indefinite mass The great defect of our primary schools is that children are dealt with as if they were all of one model and that perfect alike in mind and body the few who are so stand the strain, but the mass of them either do their mental work at the expense of their physical development, or in a much larger proportion shirk their studies and contrive to grow up strong and idle

On a former occasion we made mention of the necessity of considering and providing for the health of the body, and especially the risks and dangers inflicted unnecessarily upon the eyes of school children through the lack of proper furniture in the class rooms and the bad arrangement of desks in relation to the windows Near-sightedness, and weak sight are almost invariably the penalty of ill arranged school lighting and in Germany it has been traced out in each separate school house, so that there was no excuse left for not correcting it. Here a school-house once built and a school once started, there is practically no authority exercised (and sometimes not even employed) to discover and cure faults of construction or errors of instruction In this respect we want a better and more elastic system of inspection with power to make every exception that is needed, not as at present, to secure conformity to an arbitrary standard,

The good of the best school books and instruction may all be wasted upon a pupil whose physical condition demands either absolute rest or an entirely different method of motion from that arbitrarily proscribed by our school desks and benches A fine intellect may be wasted or lost by reason of a physical inability to work to advantage, or to work at all in a bad atmosphere, which to others is a matter of indifference or merely passing inconvenience. The long list of sicknesses peculiar to schools may well be held up as a justification of ignorance and yet it might be made a useful lesson in physiology, and serve to teach by example [illegible] to parents, pupils and teachers, which of them are preventable and how few are really unavoidable evils A little instruction of this kind could easily be added to or introduced into existing studies, and if pupils knew a little more of their own physical structure and processes they would be the better fitted to decide how far they could trust body and mind to carry them on to their various ends in life.—Cincinnati Trade List

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

In a speech lately delivered by Speaker Blaine at Oshkosh, Wisconsin on the subject of municipal indebtedness, he presented the following startling array of figures

Sixteen cities, each with a population exceeding 100 000 and aggregating 4 500 000 owe $350 000 000 or $80 per capita twelve cities having between 50 000 and 100,000 population each aggregating 750,000 owe $30 000 000 or $40 per capita fifty-three [illegible] with a population between 20 000 and 50 000 aggregating 1 500 000 owe $75 000 000 or $50 per capita one hundred and five cities and towns having less than 20,000 population each aggregating 1 400 000 owe $35 000 000 or $22 per capita These four classes of cities having 7 000 000 of population, owe $490,000 000, to which may be added $80 000 000 for towns having less than 10,000 population, making in all $570 000 000

The county debts of the United States aggregate $180 000 000 and the State debts $390 000 000 making a grand aggregate of public debt of the States and their subdivisions of $1 140 000 000

Add this sum to the national debt of about $2,000,000,000, and we have the sum of $3,140,000 000 as the total public debt of the country

The Bulletin tries to extricate itself from the ridiculous position into which it placed itself in regard to the District Attorney's fee in divorce cases by saying that it was aware that this fee was taxed against the litigant parties but it objects to its being taken out of the treasury by the District Attorney By this uncandid shift the Bulletin only places itself in still more ridiculous position by demanding that each of this class of litigants contribute $20 to the county treasury, without any corresponding expense to be incurred by the county whereas no such contribution is asked of other classes of persons who seek justice through the courts. This afterthought was certainly unfortunate for the Bulletin

The Bulletin con[illegible] itself unable to meet our answer to its quibbling opposition to the Winnemucca railway enterprise It throws up the sponge" but does so with ill-disguised chagrin In its petty spite at being beaten it seeks revenge in the "glass eye argument which it always falls back upon in an emergency It is more than welcome so far as we are concerned to its monopoly of that style of journalism We can not consent to be drawn into that kind of di[illegible], whatever may be the opportunity to reply in kind

The broadest joke of the season is the declaration of the editor of the ring organ that he does not know whether Holladay opposes the Winnemucca railway bill or not

OUR COMING GUEST

Under this patronizing caption the New York Herald gives the following unique and rather musical send-off to The Republic, the new Administration organ in New York

The pleasant though brief term of service which the Herald has enjoyed as the confidential organ of the President and Custom House will come to an end to-morrow by the appearance of The Republic This journal comes into life under the auspices of certain brave and public spirited gentlemen who have lamented the want of nourishment which has befallen the administration babes and sucklings in the way of sound doctrines This want the Herald has supplied since its recent recognition as the official organ, our terms being twelve dollars a year, invariably in advance" But the President and the Herald are so much alike in independence of opinion and in having their own way that there is no knowing when the entente cordiale may come to an end Consequently we retire from the field with alacrity and call upon the postmasters, and storekeepers and internal revenue inspectors to rally around the new organ

Some gloomy people look with apprehension upon the prospects of a new paper and we hear dreary calculations as to the fate of The Republic Mr Hudson in his admirable History of Journalism, prints the names of some hundreds of newspapers that have lived and died and gone to rest in a silent paper mill And we confess that, as president of a savings bank or a trust company, we should prefer some other investment than newspaper stock or to be more clear in meaning stock in a new newspaper But all the same we believe in new journals We should like to see two hundred daily morning papers in this metropolis Think what a good time public opinion would have undergoing the process of education from two hundred teachers! In fact we do not see in our progress of invention why every large firm every dealer in patent medicines every politician and opera manager should not have his own newspaper It is a great discipline to a man to be compelled to sit down and coldly put his thoughts into print Then he can always do himself justice Nothing, as all men know is more easy than to edit a newspaper journalism being the profession to which every American is born So that so far from there being no room for The Republic there is room for a hundred journals like it

The Herald as our readers well know is no longer a fighting paper, but a journal long since passed into the [illegible] by Irish men, who are all either secret members of the Society of Jesus, or under the pay of the Pope Speaking of the Pope we regret to learn that his remittances come very irregularly, and we presume the venerable Pontiff has too many cares to think always of financial matters As it is we take tranquil views of the world and instead of quarrelling with our contemporaries we encourage them and cheer them up We prefer the fire, the cushioned chair, our tea and toast and moderate cheerful reading like the Nation the Evening Post, and the "Anatomy of Melancholy" We have that tranquility of mind which comes from over sixty five columns of advertisements, and which can only find expression in a paper of twenty pages and whenever we read a spiteful article about ourselves, our impulse is to send the journal a half a dozen columns of advertisements Our obligation to the advertisers interferes for somehow they pay their money for the Herald and demand our columns But there is no harm, however, in alluding to the matter as an indication of how we feel to our brethren and how it is that we give this new comer a welcome hand and if cold days come we promise it a seat by the stove

We might give its editors a great deal of advice, but we are afraid it would be like sending coals to Newcastle or writing a statement for Plymouth Church We can sum up all we have to say in this one maxim — Little children love one another! Do not call names. Do not say a rival editor is a pig It does no good and after all, a pig is a useful animal and with reserved qualities in the way of hams and spareribs that few administration organs possess. Be courteous Because a man is a Democrat it does not follow that he is damned Look after subscribers and advertisements Be just to all men especially the President of the United States Remember always that he is President, the source of all wisdom and authority and praise him Always allude to him as the second or it may be the third Washington Support the Custom House By that way may good things come Do not discuss questions of emigration and the English Church to the exclusion of American themes If it is necessary to be independent abuse General Butler and Havemeyer This is always a safe topic because if they do not look at it at the time they will in a little while. Do not take sides in the Brooklyn scandal It will be like making a round of visits to hornets nests Do not print letters on currency and protection By following these points closely The Republic may have its days long in the land and in time possess its own editorial sea coal fire, and tea and toast with sixty-five columns of advertisements to comfort it and teach it patience love and consid[illegible] for all the world.

A few days since a teamster named Hess while on his way to Lewiston with a load of freight met with a fearful accident In coming down the Alpowai hill the lock to his wagon broke, and the wagon running upon the wheel horses was upset catching the teamster's leg under the wheel crushing his ankle badly

FROM THE CAPITAL

SALEM October 16 1874

For some reason or other the Senate yesterday morning declined to consider and pass upon the bids for the keeping of the insane. It had been generally understood that this matter would be settled last Wednesday The parties interested had been notified to present their final propositions by 10 o clock in the morning of that day but only one proposition was submitted Dr Hawthorne resting on his original bid—the terms of the old contract—as I am informed As intimated in my last letter Dr Carpenter has withdrawn in favor of Dr. Alfred Kinney, who is backed by several of the wealthiest citizens of Salem among them R. C Kinney Esq of the Salem Mills The rumor that Dr Hawthorne intends to come down to $5 is still in circulation

ASSESSMENT AND EXEMPTION

The Senate has given much time and attention to the law relating to Assessors The original proposition amending the law so that no exemption whatsoever shall be allowed on account of indebtedness met with much favor The bill which passed the Senate yesterday morning limits the exemption to indebtedness of $1 000 If the House continue in its present temper this bill will undoubtedly become a law The vote in the Senate was [illegible] for the bill 21 against 9

THE FEE BILL

The Senate Committee on Ways and Means reported yesterday morning a substitute for divers bills regulating the fees of county officers and the afternoon session was consumed in reading and debate upon the bill in Committee of the Whole This morning the bill came up again and passed the Senate.

TEMPERANCE LEGISLATION

In the House what is known as the Local Option Bill was amended by striking out all that portion which has hitherto been carte bella to the lawyer members The Civil Damage clause was materially modified that part being struck out which makes a judgment for damages, arising from the sale of intoxicating liquors, a lien on the premises where the liquor was sold from the time the right of action accrues

The Senate bill to prevent the disposal of intoxicating liquors on election days passed to a third reading Under the provisions of this bill, drinking on election days becomes a perilous affair No one can sell, give away or otherwise dispose of intoxicating liquors without becoming liable to the penalties provided by the bill The House will be called on to determine whether the man who drinks—even in his own castle—without purchasing or receiving liquor as a gift, is to be punished by fine or imprisonment. The bill is a center shot at the time-honored principles of Democracy

STATE DEPOSITORY

The House refused to indefinitely postpone the bill providing for a depository in which all State funds are to be placed The bill does not nominate any particular bank as State Depository I believe

THE DRUMMERS

Have been under discussion for several hours to-day, and the proceedings have been considerably mixed The debate yesterday was long and tedious save to the drummers and the disputants—but the bill finally passed by a vote of ayes 43, noes 15

This morning a motion to reconsider was entered, whereupon a warm discussion ensued, which continued through the sitting Representatives Stott and Reed made excellent speeches in favor of the bill—H. B [illegible] to license selling by sample The latter gentleman made a forcible argument going to show that the reason why drummers are enabled to undersell home dealers is that the houses they represent pay no taxes, and it was mainly through a policy like that advocated by the opponents of the bill continued by the people of this State all through its past history, that the advance of our commercial interest, has been impeded

Mr Cranston of Marion related the melancholy experience of numerous farmers of his county who had been gr[illegible]ly swindled in purchasing from sandry peddlers who had r[illegible]d through the country selling by sample

A Polk county Representative summoned the Granger members to vote unanimously against the bill and one or two farmers responded in vigorous speeches denunciatory of middlemen Mr Matlock of Lane was a little intemperate in his language I understood him to say that some of the members who had supported the bill were paid for their services by Portland merchants This called forth indignant denials from Messrs Reed Stott and others who protested against the application of such terms to members of the House The Grange element asserted itself with vehemence throughout the discussion. Ultimately the bill was lost by a vote of—ayes 21, noes, 37 In explanation of this surprising change, many of the members confessed that they voted yesterday for the passage of the bill without knowing what they were doing

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT

At the evening session of the House Mr Galloway's bill for the abolition of capital punishment came up on its passage, the debate lasting for two hours and was somewhat interesting I hear the speech of Representative Geard in advocacy of the bill spoken of as a very creditable effort, Messrs Dufur Galloway Bradshaw, Johnson and Dean also spoke in favor of and Messrs Lee, Fidler Shelton Chambers and Stott against the bill

In the course of discussion a letter was read from the Governor of Michigan, testifying in strong terms to the success of the experiment of abolition in that State, and giving some interesting facts There is a chance that the bill may yet pass, as several of the members who voted against it last night are wavering between two opinions, while two or three who would have voted for it, were absent when the vote was taken. On the passage of the bill the vote stood ayes 24 nays 31 After the defeat the House got into a snarl on points of parliamentary law and the contest was rather exciting

This morning the bill regulating the fees of Justices of the Peace was defeated The two Houses adjourned at noon They propose to hold night sessions, I believe to atone for the vacation

FASHION NOTES

Street dresses are to be made to form a demi train.

The Alhambra is the new black silk at Stewart s.

While tulle veils are fashionable, with long streamers behind.

The back hair is still worn in a single braid called the queue.

For evening dress a very handsome dotted organdie has appeared.

Grenadines gradually disappear at the approach of cool weather.

Buff and gray boots made of linen are all the rage with Paris ladies.

Ball fringe will be all the rage next winter. There are hundreds of styles.

Brides are to wear bonnets at church weddings after the London style.

Sashes are destined to continue in favor for a long time to come, and the new importations are very beautiful.

Overskirts are made very long in front, and have long sash ends tied or looped up behind in every imaginable style.

Embroidery will continue in favor, and many of the new street and house costumes are completely covered with it.

Aigrettes and pompons are to occupy prominent places on the coming bonnet about which there is so much anxiety.

The bridal dress worn by Miss Sherman recently married in Washington is thus described: "The bride s dress of rich white crape finish silk was trimmed entirely with itself and satin. Two narrow plaited flounces of silk piping with satin ran across the front. Above was a box-plaited flounce of satin, two triangular shaped revers of satin edged with plisses of crepe lisse begun at the waist and ended above the satin flounce in the side seams. A wreath of orange flowers and leaves reached from the left side far down on the train where it terminated in a large bow of satin. A deep box plaited silk flounce, piped with satin trimmed the bottom of the train. The basque was quite deep, was cut high at the back of the neck and heart shaped in front with sleeves half length. Both neck and sleeves were filled in with plisses of crepe lisse. No lace was used. The veil of tulle fell over the bride s face and enveloped her graceful form. It was fastened with a wreath of waxen orange flowers and leaves. Her ornaments—her mother s gift—were pearl.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Last day of the Fair.

No trains to-morrow.

Motion day in the Circuit Court.

County Court will meet next week.

Mails will arrive here earlier next week.

In a chaotic condition—the intersection of Washington and First streets.

Everybody and his wife will be shaking from their feet the State Fair dust to day.

Which club shall be entitled to the championship of Oregon, will be decided to day.

The steamer sailed last evening for San Francisco with a full freight and large passenger list.

Several fights occurred at the Fair Ground yesterday. They were suppressed at once by the Marshals.

Madame Anna Bishop has at length sailed for Australia, and the average San Franciscan is happy. No more "farewell benefits" for the present.

A balky horse does not tend to improve a teamster s temper. We have abundant proof of this fact by observing drivers at the Stark street pontoon.

James F Orem a special police officer died very suddenly at San Francisco from heart disease. The papers there state that he came some time ago from Portland.

NEW BOOKS

The following new books have just been received and added to the Portland Library:

"Child Life in Italy," a story of six years abroad.

"Child Life in Europe," historical mythological fairy and other stories and a sequel to Child Life in Italy by the same.

The International Scientific Series "The Science of Law" by Sheldon Amos M A.

"The Schoolmaster s Trunk" containing Papers on Home Life in Tweenit by Mrs A M Diaz illustrated.

"Justin Harley" a Romance of Old Virginia by John Esten Cooke illustrated.

"Uncle John" a novel by G J Whyte Melville.

"The History of Greece" by Prof dr Ernst Curtius translated by Adolphus William Ward M A.

"Antony Brade" by Robert Lowell.

The fall season has fairly set in and with it our merchants are opening their new stocks in large quantities. Among those who have prepared for the rush we find those well known clothiers Beck & Waldman, who are not behind any in their selections of fall and winter goods. They have studied the present wants of customers and accordingly have purchased at the lowest figure with the object of affording their patrons the greatest advantages. Boys clothing is a specialty with this house and parents should note the fact.

OUT-DOOR SPORTS

To day a match game will be played at the Salem base ball grounds between the College Juniors, of that place and the Crescents of this city. The following is the nine of the Crescent club: H Bennett (Captain), Jas Burke, Frank Post, H Ridgely, Herbert Northrup, John Wilcox, Ed Lamb, Jas Button, Paul Deady. Game will be called soon after the arrival of the morning train at Salem. M G Royal will umpire the game.

All preliminaries have been arranged and the deciding game of the series will be played to day at Oregon City between the Arcadian and College Clubs. The College Club have been practicing for the last two weeks, and with the addition of Garrison and Gesner will be able to present a very strong nine. The last defeat they suffered at the hands of their skillful opponents has nerved the members of the College Club up to their work and they have been industriously employing their intervening time in careful practice, the good results of which they will demonstrate to day on the diamond field. On the other hand, the Arcadians hope to be able to get their full nine together for the contest and give their opponents a warm reception. There is some doubt about Messrs Hurt and MacCracken being able to play. In the event they do not their positions will be filled by Wm Pratt and Wm Strong both of whom are skillful and experienced players. Bird who is conceded to be one of the best players in the State and a tower of strength with the Arcadians, has been telegraphed for and will doubtless be on hand. With the nines both Clubs expect to present to-day a careful and warmly contested game may be anticipated. This game will decide the championship of the State this year and each Club will enter into the contest with the determination to win by all fair honorable means. Rivalry of course, exists between these competing clubs but that, we are assured shall not prevent the individual members from observing the rules of gentlemanly conduct and paying the deference due each other during the game. We feel certain that nothing unpleasant either in thought or word will occur. Mr Barker of the Pioneer Club has consented to umpire the game. Persons who desire to witness the game will have to take the morning train for Oregon City, or go up by private conveyance. Had a steamboat been chartered to leave the city about 9 A M and to return at 4 P M a large crowd would undoubtedly be present from Portland to witness the deciding game. It is the intention to call the game about 12 o clock. Unless some of the members are unavoidably detained the Arcadians hope to present the following nine: Mathews, Bird, Austin, Speck, Ralugh (Al), Cushing, Hart, McCrackin, Strong.

SPECIAL CHURCH NOTICES.

Preaching morning and evening by the pastor at the Baptist Church. Morning subject "Justification." Evening subject "God s Embassy to Man." Preaching in Swedish in the vestry at 9 A M and in German at 3 P M. Rev D J Pierce will preach at the Livermore Schoolhouse at 4 P M at East Portland.

THE STAGE

To night the Phelps Stone troupe will give the last performance at Salem. The troupe will return to Portland on Monday. As Amy Stone will not sail until the latter part of next week it is probable that several performances will be given prior to her departure from the city. From here she will sail for Australia.

Don t pay high prices for Hats while they can be obtained at a reasonable figure. Among the latest additions to the stock of JOHN O NEIL & Co Clothiers is a complete line of Hats for the fall and winter season. They propose to sell them cheaper than the same have been offered heretofore in this city. When you need a new tile bear this in mind. The high scale of prices are played out and O NEIL & Co. can prove it. They are opening some new styles in Hats and Clothing. Make a note of it before it is too late.

New Attractions — Very few are acquainted with the fact that JOS KOHN opposite the First National Bank, has just opened a magnificent assortment of Clothing and Furnishing Goods. None can but admire the handsome Diagonals, the beautiful Beaver Suits, the attractive Cassimeres and other goods now displayed at his large and elegant store. He as well as his clerks, are accommodating and will gratify the tastes of all who may chance to call. Mr Kohn can please you, that is morally certain. Now is the time to purchase a full suit.

The celebrated DITHRIDGE LAMP CHIMNEYS, now being advertised, have been imported by us and furnished to our customers for the last two years.
W JACKSON & CO

A Young Canadian, Alexis St Martin received a gunshot wound in the left side from which resulted a permanent opening into the stomach affording an admirable and the only opportunity ever known for examining the whole process of digestion. Dr Beaumont, of the U S A kept the man with him and made accurate examinations for the benefit of science. He proved by them the perfect identity of digestion with chemical solution. PLANTATION BITTERS produce a chemical solution of the food eaten and thereby restore digestive health.

Whatever changes are wrought by fashion in the style of dress nothing can compensate for the want of a clear bright complexion in woman. Beauty in the sterner sex is of small account but in the female it is a never failing source of power. The habits of American life lead to premature decay of beauty; late hours and suppers undermine the health and if not restored a jaded look takes the place of facial beauty which might be preserved for years if the health restoring MAGNOLIA BALM of Prof. Hagan had been regularly used.

Proscribed Hair — The fathers of the Saxon church rolled forth their thunders against the fashion of wearing long hair. A Prelate, Serlo preached a sermon before Henry the 1st who was then on a visit to Normandy against what he considered the reigning vice. The king and his courtiers were moved to tears. When he saw the impression he had made he cunningly produced a pair of scissors and clipped the whole congregation. But the hair of the people was still worn as long as ever. The love of hair seems innate and to this may be attributed the immense popularity of LYON S KATHAIRON, which beautifies, preserves and perpetuates it.

The World's Solace — This term may be properly applied to the MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT. For the cure of rheumatism, gout, neuralgia, tic douloureux, humors, mumps, sore throat, ear and toothaches, bruises, burns, caked breasts, sore nipples, wounds, sprains and all kindred diseases, it stands unrivalled. As there is but one flesh among the billion of Earth s inhabitants subject to the same sanitary laws so this Mustang Liniment, in its capacity for relief and cure deserves the title of the World s Solace. For nearly thirty years it has shown its value in the restoration to health and the peace it has conferred upon the multitudes who use it.

GRAND EXPOSITION

NEW GOODS,

At the Store of

BRADLEY, MARSH & CO.,

Extensive Shipments to Arrive

Ex "JOHN L. STEPHENS" AND "AJAX."

THE FOLLOWING LETTER, FROM MR MARSH who is now purchasing in the San Francisco market will explain itself:

GRAND HOTEL, 7th October 1874

DEAR BRADLEY: Arrived safely having had fair average passage. Set at once to work. First called on ——. Paid them $2,000 on account. Got 5 per cent discount on $1,150 not yet due. Mr —— seemed well pleased, said they had heard rather unfavorable accounts of us from Portland merchants going ahead too fast, selling goods too low, ruined the trade etc. Explained the evident animus of such statements. Wanted to call round on the other houses before buying but Mr —— would not let me stir—so started in and bought a splendid lot of stuff at really extraordinary low prices. Cleared out 64 pieces of English waterproof and ladies cloth at 90c—regular price $1 20. These we must sell at $1 per yard and beat the wholesale houses; they can t touch them at that figure. There is a temporary decline in cotton goods so secured 16 cases leading brands muslins and sheetings. Selling these as usual at cost will give us a splendid advantage over all the other stores. Got a fine lot Bed spreads 20 per cent under regular price. In Blankets I made a special hit. The house had 12 bales on consignment and being agents for the —— mills, did not wish to exhibit them in competition. Bought the lot. You will think this rather stiff but when you see the splendid quality of these goods you will at once concede this a magnificent purchase. Mark them low and make a noise. Do not let the country storekeepers gobble all these up as they did the last cheap lot. Keep them for our regular customers. Got two job lines in Dress Goods to sell at 25@37½ per yard—30 per cent less than cost of importing. Secured two original cases of the Buffalo brand silk warp Alpacas at agent s rates. These range in price from 40c to $1. The time is past with us for buying a piece or two. Cleared out several pieces in Flannels, Table Linen, Napkins, Towels etc ad libitum. Also several other goods that can best be purchased at this house. Dined and wined with Mr ——. Splendid house magnificently furnished. Met ——.

Tuesday—Called early on —— Paid our account in full. Same story as to reports. The fact is the —— evidently went for us. In very blackness of heart but our name is a tower of strength that the shot of accident nor dart of chance can neither graze nor pierce. The robbed that smiles steals something from the thief and we can well smile at these attempts to jostle a brother bearing his road on the rough road of life. The heavy cash remittances we make regularly turn them all here. They say the Portland men are generally "long winded." Our getting the Granger trade is also a surprise to many. Purchased a fine lot of Shawls, Hosiery, Men s Shirt, Pants, Ladies Merino Vests, Woolen Jackets, Trimmings and all fancy goods at this house. They were most anxious to sell and as they made considerable reductions in prices I bought largely. Sent you invoices overland. Goods go by John L Stephens. The shipment from England will arrive by next Ajax. Steamer. The Clothing, Hats etc from New York come by rail. When all these are opened our stock will be the finest on the coast. Will back us up to any extent. He knows we possess the powers ordained to last. His business has doubled this year. This is truly a Golden State with its golden mines, golden grain and the golden wealth of living manhood and womanhood pouring in at the rate of three hundred daily from all parts of the civilized and uncivilized world. We all hope you had railroads to make us to share this prosperity.

POLITICKS

There's a popular game which is called Polyticks
 On the plan of a circus or Government job
Since its played in a King with most wonderful tricks
 Being sleight of hand motions for filling the fob

Where the objective point is to win an election
 The plan that our smart Politicians pursue
Since the leading [illegible] citizens affection
 They must make it worth while in a personal view

And providing beforehand the sinews of war
 Drawed of course from the Public by Taxation again
Is the chief end and aim—what Pollytiks is for Though the men and the methods may shift now and then

When the masses are humbugged by blacklegs to play
 A hand in the passionate games, War or Bug,
That's the simplest and most economical way
 For the lead'r to get off with the most of the swag

In our recent [illegible] this was the plan
 And it worked like a charm, on their ignorant tools,
For passion will govern an average man
 Even men of some sense just as easy as fools

But since we cooled off, we have got some ideas
 Of the vally of manhood and republican grace,
And the honest men mostly will vote as they please
 Though a [illegible] touche in many a place

From Washington down, and to [illegible] one [illegible],
 Nameless acts and inventions designed to secure
Fat salaries—Fat pages—Perquisites—Etc.
 [illegible]

E g there's a cat in the Senate to win
 With a fine chance to make for a long headed man
Wide arrangements are made by distributing Tin
 To the strikers all round on a liberal plan

The Litigant Bill is a specimen brick
 Of setting up things in a Pollytick game
Persuading the Printers to help with a trick
 Their interest and principal being the same

Likewise there's the Penitentiary Bill
 Whose sirname is Watkinds as per his Report
Which it shows he has dipped pretty deep in the till
 He's a joker on votes and things of that sort.

Not to mention that elegant State House out doors,
 With a plan so stupendous they say it denotes
That it's not to be finished in my time or yours
 But will always be kept as a trap to catch votes

There's tricks in all trades, but this Pollytick game,
 Has more Ins and Outs than any I know
Suppose we lay back and see who's to blame
 And give 'em a ride, [illegible] and go
 FARMER BOY

THE FITCH SHERMAN WEDDING.

ARCHBISHOP PURCELL'S ADDRESS

On the occasion of uniting in marriage of Mr L D Fitch and Miss Minnie Sherman, daughter of Gen Sherman on the 1st inst Archbishop Purcell said

I do not know that a marriage ceremony has ever been performed in these United States under [illegible] interesting [illegible] than the one we are assembled now to solemnize. There is a rare combination of circumstances in all these surroundings that have not been, I believe, in these United States, been witnessed before You have among the audience, I believe the President of the greatest Republic the greatest nation, of the times, who comes by his presence to manifest the interest he takes in the bridal party We have here, in the father of the bride, one of the greatest captains of any age one of the most devoted patriots, one of the most gallant and able of all those generals to whom the fate of armies and of nations has ever been intrusted We have other great generals and officers here, the like of whom have never been assembled on the occasion of a marriage ceremony before and we all when we look on them, behold in them the glorious defenders of these United States men who at the head of gallant armies have gained the admiration and respect of all the other nations of the world

Now the Apostle tells you that there is no other form of marriage than that instituted by Christ Thus marriage was ordained in Heaven, [illegible] and when the marriage union is consummated under such auspices as we behold to-day we have reason to believe that God will [illegible] His own right hand from the heights of Heaven and bless the young couple

You all here to-day have come not from any [illegible], but you come to witness this ceremony and to manifest the interest you take in those who are now about to plight their vows to one another. We pray God that their marriage may be auspicious that their days may be long and happy in the land and that they may live to see their children and their children's children unto the third and fourth generation When I think of the grand father of the bride—Mr Ewing—he who gave such a pure example to all his children when I think of the grandmother of the bride whom I saw laid out in death when she looked more like a bride than a corpse, so beautiful was her appearance when I remember how her noble husband walked into the room and gazed upon that lovely form, having the appearance more of life than death, and walked back again to take still another gaze at all that was left of the wonderful woman, Mrs Ewing when I think of all this it seems as if I see those blessed souls looking down from Heaven upon the scene that is now spread out before us invoking God's blessing

Marriage is essentially a religious ceremony It is not a mere human or civil contract No beloved friends Other marriages may be of the earth, earthy but a marriage like this is of Heaven heavenly God bestowed his blessing at the first marriage, upon the first couple, and pronounced their union good He blessed the marriages of the patriarchs, and the blessings that He gave to them were prophecies that were fulfilled to the letter On the occasion of another recorded marriage God sent an angel from Heaven to prepare the young couple for their wedding, the angel traveled with them the angel protected them the night of their [illegible] to their friends And this again, shows how God, [illegible] marriage, not a mere human rite—a mere civil contract—but a marriage made in accordance with God's holy purpose Mary, the mother of Jesus, was present at the wedding of Cana at Galilee, and Christ's disciples and apostles were also there. It was at that wedding that Christ wrought his first miracle by turning the water into wine. Thus we see what a sacred thing marriage is and what are its duties, Hence you are thoroughly instructed in the nature of the ceremony which is to be performed before you And I am exceedingly glad to see the [illegible] for the House of God, respect for his Excellency the President respect for the parents of the bride and the friends of the bridegroom which this large congregation show in the good order quietness and the proprieties that have been observed, I congratulate you on it It is not like other marriages we have seen [illegible] which shows that the ceremony is a holy one one over which God is expected to preside and which God is expected to bless

My friends I shall not detain you any longer, nor delay further in bestowing the blessing of Almighty God on the bride and bridegroom the bridesmaids and their friends When marriage is contracted lightly irreverently then God's blessing is not realized, and marriage fails of its high mission and society becomes a loser but when as in this case the marriage ceremony is properly respected properly conducted, and God's blessing rests on the parties then all is well and society becomes the gainer Would to God all marriages were solemnized in this manner Here are the bridegroom and bride just about to seal their vows with the body and blood of Christ Was there ever a scene more beautiful May God's blessing rest upon this happy pair

PONY EXPRESS

THE OLD WAY OF [illegible] THE PLAINS.

The most curious and perfect of all the pony expresses was that which used to run across the plains Of course you know what I mean by the plains When I was a boy almost the whole country between the Mississippi river and the Pacific ocean was called, on the maps the Great American Desert, and in my geography it was described as a wide sandy plain. In my mind it was not unlike the desert of Sahara with fierce tribes inhabiting it Schoolboys now a-days have better maps and geographies and know this country by the names of the great States of Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado and Nevada which have been formed of it What was desert to us is prairie to you boys, what we thought barren sand you know to be rich soil and you cross it by rail in three days, where we in stage coaches, used to make the trip in seventeen

The Pacific railroad killed the pony express but in its day the latter was a great institution, which would have put to the blush the pony express of the Russians and Tartars or our own army couriers It was not a Government line, either, private enterprise started and kept it going on a grand scale It [illegible] up and broke down more than a thousand horses and Indian ponies a year It employed nine or ten hundred couriers and coach-drivers and station-keepers and more than one hundred Concord coaches Every day in the year one of these stages started from the east end and from the west end of the route and often as many as fifty were making the trip at the same time The coach stations were ten miles apart and there were more than two hundred of them in all The route led from Atchison across the plains for five days to Denver [illegible] then five days more up the Rocky Mountains to Salt Lake City Utah then seven days more down the mountains to Sacramento City Cal

At one station the stage coach reached a level of five thousand feet above the plains and in the summer months it was the custom of the drivers to stop there ten minutes not for refreshments but to allow the passengers the novel pleasure of snowballing each other in July In these dreary mountains few persons were then to be met other than members of the family of Mr Grizzly Bear who as he happens to be hungry is a very unpleasant fellow to travel with On the plain the enemy most dreaded was the redskinned tribes whose roving bands almost daily attacked the coaches. To repel such attacks each passenger was required to carry a rifle as a part of his baggage A crack driver was one who could drive four horses at full speed with the reins in his teeth and a rifle in his hands Every station was a fort with soldiers to defend it Often the coaches had to be guarded from station to station by the soldiers who followed on horseback and at times the soldiers and passengers were forced to fortify themselves in the coach and fight until help came by the approach of other coaches Seventeen days of a trip like this would furnish almost enough adventure for a lifetime

But it was the swift pony couriers of this line who ran risks and led adventurous lives full of daring and danger They ran the gauntlet of the Indians all alone—at night as well as by day—and a rough time many of them had of it. Their stations were twenty-five miles apart and the trips between them had to be made at a full gallop, and in two hours and a half, winter or summer day or night, over plain or mountain The horses were hardy Indian ponies swift and sure of foot but the service killed them very rapidly The riders were old pioneers, who knew the ways of the Indians and how to avoid them Still many of them fell victims to their daring and their sense of duty, The long trip of two thousand miles occupied the mail-carriers eight days, at the rate of more than ten miles an hour but important elections news was carried at a still more rapid rate But at length the harnessed lightning and the iron horse distanced the pony on his own track, and he has gone further West to pastures new —R i "The Pony Express" in St Nicholas for September
